COMMONWEALTH BUREAU OF CENSUS AND STATISTICS

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA.

CENSUS OF THE COMMONWEALTH, 30TH. JUNE, 1954.

NO. 19 : SUMMARY OF POPULATION FOR THE NORTHERN TERRITORY.

This Bulletin contains an analysis, in summary form, of the population of the Northern Territory as enumerated at the Census of 30th. June, 1954.

The population is classified according to age, conjugal condition, birthplace, period of residence in Australia of those born outside Australia, nationality, religion, industry and occupational status. Each major table shows the numbers of males, females and persons according to one particular characteristic (e.g., age, conjugal condition, etc.). A Bulletin similar to this will shortly be issued on Dwellings, and at a later stage a more detailed analysis will be published, showing particulars of both population and dwellings in a series of cross tabulations (e.g., the numbers of persons in the various industries according to their age groups, and the numbers of dwellings according to both numbers of rooms and inmates, etc.).

Census Bulletin No.2. - Population and Dwellings in Local Government Areas, issued in February, 1955, shows the population and occupied and unoccupied dwellings in each District of the Northern Territory. Census Bulletin No.1, issued in March, 1955, provides comparisons of figures for the Northern Territory as a whole for a series of Censuses and also particulars of intercensal increases in population.

All the tables in this Bulletin exclude particulars of full-blood Aboriginals.

(d) Persons not elsewhere enumerated who at midnight between 30th. June and 1st. July, 1954 were on ships in Northern Territory waters, or were travelling on long distance trains or aircraft.

The 1954 Census population of the Northern Territory (16,469 persons) represented an increase of 52 per cent. over the 1947 Census figure (10,868 persons), due, mainly, to the increases in the population of Darwin, Alice Springs and the Adelaide River and Tennant Creek districts.

The proportionate increase in the female population between the two Censuses was 77 per cent. or practically double that of the male increase. The proportion of females to males increased from 47 females per 100 males in 1947 to 60 females per 100 males in 1954.

2. AGE. The following table shows the numbers of each sex in each five-year age group at the Censuses of 1947 and 1954.

The principal feature of this table is the increasing proportions of the younger age groups. In 1954, more than 21 per cent. of the population of the Northern Territory was less than 10 years of age, compared with 16 per cent. in 1947. Approximately 34 per cent. of the population was less than 21 years of age in 1954 compared with about 31 per cent. in 1947. Increases occurred in all age groups as compared with 1947 figures, the smallest increase being in respect of the 15-19 years group (which increased by 11 per cent.) and the largest increases being in respect of the 0-4 years group (which increased by 106 per cent.), and the 25-29 years group (which increased by 99 per cent.). The marked increase in the proportion of females referred to in Sec. 1 is evident throughout all age groups in 1954. However, the femininity of the under 21 population (viz. 92 females per 100 males) is in sharp contrast to the 48 females per 100 males of the adult population.

3. CONJUGAL CONDITION. The following table shows the population of the Northern Territory classified according to sex and conjugal condition at the Censuses of 1947 and 1954.

At 30th. June, 1954, the Australian-born portion of the population of the Northern Territory represented 82 per cent. of the total, compared with 87 per cent. in 1947. European-born persons comprised 15 per cent. of the Territory population at the 1954 Census, compared with 10 per cent. in 1947, and consisted mainly of persons born in England (5.6 per cent.), Italy (1.8 per cent.), Scotland (1.4 per cent.), and Germany (1.0 per cent.)

5. PERIOD OF RESIDENCE IN AUSTRALIA OF PERSONS BORN OUTSIDE AUSTRALIA. The effect of the post-war immigration policy shown in the figures above is also reflected in the following table which sets out details of the period of residence in Australia of persons born outside Australia. As at 30th. June, 1954, of the 2,972 persons born outside Australia, 1,751 (or 59 per cent.) had resided in Australia for less than eight years. In 1947, 76 per cent. of the overseas-born population of the Territory had spent more than ten years in Australia.

The proportion of males to females in 1954 for persons born outside Australia (365 males per 100 females) was considerably higher than that for the Australian-born sector of the population (144 males per 100 females), although not as high as in 1947 when the relative proportions were 521 and 191 respectively.
